

Mahri Monson

Mahri Monson (MS-STEP '06) graduated from the University of North Carolina at Asheville with degrees in natural resource management and Spanish and a minor in economics. She volunteered with AmeriCorps for one year tutoring fourth and fifth graders in reading and doing conflict resolution, mediation, and diversity training with middle-school students in an after-school program.

Monson currently is pursuing a Master of Science degree in science, technology, and environmental policy. She works as a research assistant with the Center for Science, Technology, and Public Policy on an interdisciplinary team exploring full-cost accounting of renewable and conventional energy sources. During the summer of 2007, Monson worked with the BioBusiness Alliance of Minnesota on a renewable energy strategic plan for Minnesota.